They have recognized all along that a railroad was the one key to success in any extended mining venture that might be undertaken.

In this connection the city of Pioche, itself, and all mining properties in the itself, and all mining properties in the district, will be greatly benefitted. Many of the mines have been worked but little in late years owing to the fact that there was little profit. The one-time bonanza camp has been lying practically dormant, but with the new road will come new life. It will mean facilities for the transportation of ores to smellers, etc.

Grading Is Completed.

Some years ago the entire distance between Pioche and Caliente was grad-ed for a proposed narrow-gauge road. A little over two years ago the grade was widened so that now all that remains to have the road completed is the laying of ties and rails. The details of the agreement between the Salt Lake Route and the Utah-Nevada company have not been completed but it is understood that the latter guarantees a certain tonnage per day in

SHOCKING TRAGEDY IN OHIO

Bodies of a Youth and Two Young Girls Found in Farm House.

Hillsboro, O., June 4 .- Three young persons, Madge Dines, aged 14: Nettie Hart, aged 16, and George Baldwin, aged 16, and George Baldwin, aged 18, were found shot to death in an upper room in the home of Ed Dines, a farmer and father of Madge, three miles out of the city, late tonight. The girls were slain with a renight. The girls were slain with a revolver—The man's brains were blown out with a shotgun. The latter weapon was found in the room in which the bodies lay. The theory that the young man murdered the two girls and then committed suicide is not entertained, though certain circumstances point to that conclusion. A fourth person is suspected, but the identity of the alleged murderer and his motive are withheld.

The shocking discovery was made by Mr. and Mrs. Dines on returning from Hillsboro, where they had attended the Hillsboro, where they had attended the baccalaureate sermon of the graduating exercises of the High school. Details of the relationship of the young people have not been learned by the police beyond the fact that George Baldwin is a neighbor, the son of a farmer and a friend. He visited the Dines home tonight, ostensibly to protect the girls in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Dines. Nettle Hart is said to Mrs. Dines. Nettle Hart is said have been employed as a domestic.

To the accompaniment of soft music, the members of the order standing with bared heards, the black draperies were drawn from around the monuments, which were of the usual pattern for Woodmen of the World—a tree trunk, with the upper part broken away. The impressive ritual of the lodge was repeated in memory of the dead, the principal part being recited by the consult commander. Saft was strewn about the place as an emblem of universal preservation, and water, symbol of purity and generosity, was poured over the place of sepulture.

The erators of the day were Judge J. A. Howell and Dr. A. S. Condon. An address was made at each grave.

Judge Howell in an eloquent oration, rich in the imagery of woodcraft and refulete with reference to the beauty of the custom which those assembled had come to perpetuate, held the attention of the hundreds of people massed about the Woodman's resting place.

Dr. Condon likewise thrilled his heares from the very first sentence to the close of a beautiful address filled with tenderest sentiment and apt quotations. He sald in part:

Model for All Teachers.

"There is great wisdom in the custom which permits a Christian teacher to speak a final word to young men and women about to begin their life work. Fundamental to all success must be personal character, and Jesus Christ is the master of character. His words revolutionized the thicking of vords revolutionized the thinking words revolutionized the thinking of his day, and we are still far from the standard he set up and our consciences approve. I doubt if we fully appre-ciate the force of those words: 'They were astonished at his doctrine. 'Blessed are the poor in spirit,' he said when the world was honoring the proud; 'blessed are they that mourn. when men were accounting as happ only the light-hearted; 'blessed are th only the light-hearted; 'blessed are the meek' had a strange sound to men who honored the aggressive 'blessed are the merciful' would hardly be understood in an age ignorant of loving kindness, and think of asserting in those days, when the conquering hero was the ation's idol, 'Blessed are the peace-makers.' makers

"It is to this responsibility, resting especially upon the educated men and women of every community, that I want to call your attention tonight. In the first place, many of you are expecting to teach. It is to be greatly regretted that the profession of teacher is not held in as high honor in this country as it ought to be, and that, therefore, many of you are expecting to teach school, not as a life work, but until you can find more profitable employment. Teaching is hard work. It is poorly paid for. In the city of New York, when Colonel Waring organized his efficient corps of white-coated sweepers to keep the streets clean, he paid them an average of $780 per year, and at the same time the teachers of New York received but 1485 for their services. In the west the teacher has always been better paid, and yet not at all in proportion to the importance of his work. There is this advantage.
